Tena koe, greetings

I hope your child had a restful and stimulating holiday break and that you managed to get some good family time. After our challenging first term we look forward to a more settled time at school.

Extension Programmes

Along with the many usual opportunities we have several exciting extension activities happening this term that will give many of our children a chance to develop in an area that interests them.

Tairongo Time : Children in Totara syndicate (years 4-6) will welcome the return of our popular Tairongo Time. 'Tairongo' is a Māori word meaning 'to use all the senses', and our aim with Tairongo Time is for children to try something new, push themselves in a direction that they haven't taken before or would like to take further.

Art : Loren Watts will run an art extension group on Monday and Wednesday afternoons for the rest of the year. She begins with a senior (year 5-6) group this term and will extend the opportunity to other age groups later in the year.

Aquabots : 'Aqua-what?' I hear you ask. Aquabots are a STEM project involving children building and programming small robotic machines that can perform a variety of tasks in and under water. Kent Davis will run an aquabots group one afternoon per week that will work towards a local competition in term four.

Junior School Production : The children in Matai syndicate (years 1-3) have started working on a major production to be performed at the end of term three or early term four. We welcome lots of involvement from parents in this show.

Board of Trustee Elections

Now is the time for you to consider joining our board of trustees. With this newsletter you will receive a brochure explaining the work of the board and how to become a board member. New Zealand has a unique model of school governance that places parents at the centre of decision-making about their children's education. If you value the opportunity to govern our vibrant, progressive school I encourage you to put your name forward for the board elections to be held in June.

More information can be found in the brochure or contact Olivia at the school office: 541 8332. You can read more about the elections on the School Trustees Association website:

KAREAREA CAMP

Grumpy Dad

The tentacle grabbed me and pulled me down. I was losing breath. Suddenly I felt something in my back pocket. I pulled it out, it was a spoon. I shrugged and started hitting the octopus with the spoon. Then, (just to keep myself calm) I started reciting hard basic facts. Suddenly the top of the octopus's head popped off and his brain went shooting up. I watched it shoot through the surface of the ocean. Then the octopus went limp.

I yawned as I opened my eyes, then closed them again. The light! The sun was about to come up into the sky, and by the time the others were awake, the sun was shining over our cabin, making it look like a bright star that had not managed to blow out the candle in its hand. I had to find a piece of my mind that would allow me to get up out of my warm sleeping bag. Then I got myself dressed. I took a step out of my cabin and started hunting for my prey.

Dad.

There! Bright blue shirt, bags under his eyes. With sleep still in my eyes, I dawdled lazily and annoyed an already grumpy Dad.

Camp

I trotted over to the massive climbing wall and waited patiently for the instructor to give the safety briefing and tell us the rules. I chucked a harness and helmet on. The wall was a dark brown colour and towered over me. My heart was thumping as I started to climb. As I nervously clambered up the climbing wall, I heard Harry cheering at me down below but I didn't dare to look down. I continued to the top of the wall, I slipped but I caught myself. I steadily got past the hard part. Finally, I made it to the top. Then I slowly abseiled down to the ground feeling excited because I completed the rock climbing wall.

High Ropes

As I was sitting on the boiling hot concrete I heard Miss Woodley say dark wolves. I immediately knew that we were going to high ropes so I ran as fast as I could over to the high ropes! Then I got my blue harness and orange helmet on then I zoomed over to the practice course and did a quick lap of that. Then off I went to the start of the course.

As I climbed and balanced through the obstacles feeling confident, I finally made it to the end. I got the zip line hook and clipped it on and off I went zooming down as fast as the wind. I was so excited! I let go soon after that as I realised I was going to crash into the padding at the bottom.

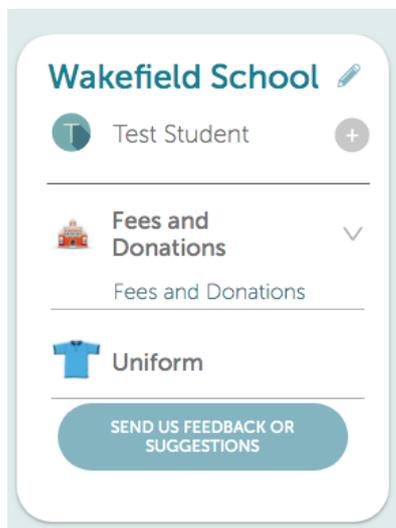

Finally, I had finished feeling exhausted and accomplished from the effort I put in that day.
